E-Rate is instrumental in providing Internet access to our schools. Teachers and students benefit from having ready-access to a world of resources through a T-1 line. The availability of the Internet enhances communication, research capabilities, and technology integration into the curriculum. Students and teachers are able to access the Alabama Virtual Library which includes a wealth of magazine and encyclopedia articles, literary criticisms, health and science information and much more. It is an invaluable resource. Also, we utilize the video on demand services of Alabama Public television and United Streaming to enhance the classroom curriculum. We have been fortunate to have all the funds we receive from the E-Rate telecommunication reimbursements used for technology-related expenses to improve technology in our schools. Without this reimbursement, there would be a huge hole in our technology budget. We are very appreciative of the funding for technology that is generated by E-Rate funds.
